His body was found on the tracks a short distance from the station.

Two negroes, Fred Walker of Prescott, and Roosevelt Garland, of Hope, are held at Prescott for investigation, officers said.

Cotton Sells Off Half Cent Pound

Dull Demand Reflected in Reports For Week Ending May 15th

MEMPHIS.—(U. S. Dept. Agriculture.)—The cotton market during the week ending May 15th declined about one-half cent. It was said that demand for spot cotton both domestic and foreign continued rather dull. The volume of spot transactions, as reported by the ten markets for the past week amounted to 19,966 bales, compared with 16,331 for the like week a year ago.

According to the Weather Bureau, for the week ending May 15th, cool cloudy weather was generally unfavorable for cotton though conditions were somewhat more favorable in the northeast portion of the belt. In most sections of the cotton belt, however, low temperatures were unfavorable and the progress of cotton was slow with recent plantings germinating poorly and considerable replanting reported.

According to the Bureau of the Census, domestic consumption for April amounted to 508,744 bales, compared with 551,911 April a year ago, and for nine months this season amounted to 3,900,000 bales, compared with 4,000,000 for the corresponding period last season. Stocks of cotton in consuming establishments in April 30th amounted to 1,370,044 bales, compared with 1,662,213 bales last season. Exports to May 15th this season amounted to about 6,100,000 bales, compared with about 6,300,000 a year ago for the like period.

The average of middling 7-8 inch spot cotton at the ten markets on May 15th was 8.90c, compared with 9.31c on May 8th, and 15.17c on the corresponding day the previous season. Due to the larger exports during April this year than during April a year ago, and the fact that consumption was almost as great, the apparent supply remaining in the United States, decreased 884,000 bales during April, compared with a decrease of 854,000 during April 1930. This leaves an apparent supply of 6,600,000 bales in the United States on May 1st compared with 6,200,000 bales on May 1st last year, and 4,600,000 bales two years ago.

Southern mill centers continued to say that conditions were quiet with cotton continuing to be of hand to mouth character. According to the Bureau of the Census, there were consumed in the southern states during April 290,418 bales, compared with 412,232 for April a year ago, and for the corresponding period last season.

New England mill centers said that demand for raw cotton was spotted and directed to small lots of cotton for immediate needs. There were no particular grades and staples inquired for. According to the Bureau of the Census, consumption of cotton in the New England states for the month of April amounted to 100,371 bales, compared with 101,536 for April a year ago, and for the 9 months ending April 30th, 684,065 bales, against 917,872 last season.

Dry goods centers continued to report rather dull conditions. According to the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, sales of cotton cloths during the month of April amounted to 61.0 per cent of production, and stocks on April 30th showed an increase of 3.1 per cent compared with stocks April 1st. Unfilled orders at end of April were 21.3 per cent smaller than those of April 1st.

Detroit Gunman Held For Murder

4 Other Arrested Following Slaying at Webb City, Mo.

JOPLIN, Mo.—(AP)—Five persons, including a man known as Jimmie Jones, alias Watkins, alias Greer, named by police as a Detroit gunman, were held Sunday in an investigation of the slaying of Coyne Hatten, 27, member of a wealthy Webb City, Mo., family.

Hatten was found behind a Webb City drug store, dead from three bullet wounds. Greer was arrested after Mickey Casey, Joplin, who has served two prison terms on narcotic charges, told of driving to Webb City with the Detroit man shortly before Hatten was shot.

Police said Jones was carrying a revolver when arrested. The gun showed evidences of having been discharged recently although it was fully loaded, the officers asserted. The police also said they found a loaded automatic shotgun in a violin case in Jones' room.

Doris Adams, a Webb City waitress and three youths, Oral Irby, John Payne, and Howard Miller all of Carthage, also are held. They were said to have told conflicting stories of being near the shooting.

Police are searching for his companion.

Miller Co. Sheriff Turns Over Auto

60-Year-Old Woman Suffers Injury in Auto Accident Sunday

A picnic party including the family of the Miller county sheriff and another family bound for Hot Springs crashed in a ditch on No. 67 nine miles east of Hope Sunday morning, injuring four persons, one of them a 60-year-old woman.

Sheriff Walter Harris of Texarkana was driving the car, a large sedan, whose steel top was said to have prevented the injured persons from being killed.

Blowout Throws Car

A blowout on the left rear wheel threw the car out of control. Sheriff Harris told the ignition and put on the brakes, but the machine went off the embankment and turned over in a ditch. Those injured were:

Mrs. M. F. Potter, 60; Gladys Harris, 16, daughter of the sheriff; Jimmie Lee Dixon, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dixon of Texarkana; and M. F. Potter, husband of Mrs. Potter, also of Texarkana.

Mrs. Harris and another daughter, Lillian, 16, escaped uninjured. Sheriff Harris righted his automobile and drove it back to Hope, where he placed a telephone call to Texarkana for an ambulance. Mrs. Potter was taken to Texarkana in the ambulance and placed in a hospital, the others being less seriously hurt. Mrs. Potter's injuries were said to be two fractured ribs and severe bruises.

The party had left Texarkana at 5:30 Sunday morning, carrying a picnic lunch, which the accident scattered over the highway. Sheriff Harris recovering his revolver from a bowl of potato salad when he extricated himself from the wreckage and helped the others out.

Twenty Grand Is Winner of Derby

Avenge Defeat by Mate, and Breaks Old Rosebud's Record

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Twenty Grand came through here Saturday with a favorite's honors in the 57th running of the Kentucky Derby, and broke a course record set by Old Rosebud 17 years ago. Twenty Grand finished in 2:01 4-5. Old Rosebud's record, established in 1914, was 2:03 2-5, and had withstood the assaults of a score of America's most famous thoroughbreds.

But last Saturday the Kentucky Derby all belonged to Twenty Grand. Backed heavily as the outstanding horse of a field of 12, the Mrs. Payne Whitney entry galloped over a fast dry track that was made to order. He finished four good lengths ahead of Sweep All, while Mate, who beat him in the Preakness two weeks ago, ran third.

The failure to enter another favorite, Equipoise, probably cost race-track betters a million dollars. C. V. Whitney withdrew Equipoise the morning of the race when veterinarians discovered he was suffering from a quarter-crack. There had been scandalous rumors that the gambler had poisoned or crippled him ever since his sensational poor showing in a race against inferior horses ten days ago. But a last-minute examination revealed that a cracked hoof had lamed him.

All the favor of the crowd went to Twenty Grand and Mate. The former was favored to win the Preakness, and although Mate beat him out, close followers of the track maintained that he was still the greatest horse in America—and the Derby result confirmed their verdict.

Capone Invades Enemy District

Gamblers Toss Gaming Paraphernalia Out of Kolb's Resorts

CHICAGO.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner says it has learned from federal and local police sources that the remnants of Al Capone last week confiscated 41 saloons and resorts formerly controlled by Matt Kolb, so-called czar of the northwest side. The paper says these officials expect a gang war, perhaps as sanguinary as any Chicago has known in years, to result.

Loaded in three cars, the paper says, the Capone gangsters visited the Kolb resorts, tossing out gambling paraphernalia, slot machines, beer and liquor, and substituted Capone material, at the same time passing out the information: "Kolb is out!"

Matt Kolb, the paper says, for several years operated lucrative concessions throughout the northwest side districts. Nile Cafe, Moron Grove and vicinity. While tacitly allied with the forces of George "Bugs" Moran, with whom he dealt, Kolb was in reality the ruler of his own territory.

White Paper in the South

THE most interesting industrial news of the year was that story from Washington last Wednesday about the manufacture of white paper from Southern timber.

Just as our vanishing saw-mill business is causing us to welcome pulp and paper mills which create a market for cut-over timberland, the white paper industry, if successful, will outdo anything we ever dreamed of.

The Washington dispatch told us that the Department of Agriculture, in its forest products laboratory, had discovered that the resin which is found in Southern pine may be circumvented. Resin appears in the heart-wood of slash pine, loblolly pine, and Southern short and long leaf pines; but the heart-wood is found only when the tree passes 25 years of age. Under that age, the resin content is only 1.3 per cent, as compared with 75 per cent for Canadian spruce, a negligible difference, the Department of Agriculture assures us.

Here is what it means for Southern industry, if the results of the federal experiment appear good in actual practice. The only paper products being turned out at present in the South are kraft wrapping-paper, paper sacks, and allied lines. Because the South can produce them more cheaply, all these products are gradually being transferred to Southern plants. But over half the entire paper industry is occupied with the production of white newsprint for American newspapers—and the resin thus far has prohibited its manufacture from Southern timber.

For example, the relative importance of paper products appears in the consumption figures here in Hope. The Star buys $4,000 worth of newsprint every year. We have no way of finding out, but it is a reasonable presumption that this is more than the combined wholesale value of all the wrapping paper used in Hope in one year.

To bring this vast newsprint industry down to the Southern states from Canada and the Northwest merely means that about 150 million acres of cut-over land in our section will suddenly become valuable. And if the federal experiment to get around the resin content is successful, the transfer will take place within a few years. Southern cordwood can be sold at a profit for $6, whereas the Northern mills are having to pay as high as $18.

This is good news in a big way. Experiments to make manufacture of newsprint practicable in the South should have been started years ago. Ours is the greatest timber-growing area in the nation, and although we are now manufacturing most of the kraft-paper produced in this country, we have not yet touched the richest branch of the paper market—the branch which supplies 2,000 American newspapers.

Small-Town Baseball

IT is hard to keep from feeling rather melancholy and aged, when one reads in a small town, middle western newspaper that Blankville is not going to have a baseball team this year. The Blankville paper announces it; and it adds:

"Lack of support on the part of fans, due to the inroads made by motor traffic, golf and other things, seems to have made it next to impossible to maintain a ball team of good caliber these days."

This little item, to be sure, isn't unusual. Many a small town newspaper has printed something similar in the last few years. But reading such an announcement is like discovering that the world has moved on and left one standing still. Is it a whole generation since the baseball team was the small town's greatest pride and joy?

So it would seem. Baseball is still the national game. The big leagues are as prosperous and active as ever, if not more so. Ball players like Ruth and Grove and Hornsby are still the average youngster's idols. But there has been a change.

The small town baseball team isn't what it used to be—not in most places, anyway. Two decades ago the team was to the small town what a standing army was to a pre-war European monarchy; the citizen's pride and joy, the inspiration of all hands, the upholder of local pride and honor. The athletes who went out to represent Blankville carried all of Blankville's fondest hopes and civic enthusiasm, and usually most of Blankville's spare cash, into action with them. When they won, the town went into ecstasies; when they lost, an innumerable gloom prevailed the place for days.

For the small town used to take its baseball seriously—almost religiously. Sometimes the fervor of the fan became too much for him, and if the home team lost a close game the visiting players were more apt than not to be mobbed by an indignant citizenry on their way to the train. And the umpires! Where, one wonders, did they ever find men heroic and callous enough to risk giving an unfavorable decision before a small town baseball crowd?

Now that sort of thing is passing. It isn't entirely gone yet, thank heaven, and probably it never will be; but things aren't what they used to be. Blankville plays golf, nowadays, and drives off to the cities in its auto., and finds a dozen other ways to fill in the long summer afternoons; and it is possible to find small towns now in which the baseball field has actually gone out of existence. There is no help for it, and we might as well make up our minds to it. But it does seem too bad.

What's Wrong With This Picture?

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—This is an era of harsh feelings, according to Senator J. Boonboom McWhorter.

If everyone who has been calling other people bad names were to have his mouth washed out, the senator suggests, most of the 6,000,000 unemployed would be assured of jobs in soap factories.

McWhorter will introduce a bill to wash all those mouths but has no hope that it will pass because a majority of the members of Congress would be affected.

"It has been many months since the newspapers reported an instance where someone thought of something nice to say about anything or anybody," the senator observes.

"The Republican National Committee is praising Mr. Hoover, radio announcers pay homage to certain toothpastes and rubber tires and both Washington and Lincoln came in for a moderate amount of commendation on their birthdays this year."

Everybody is "Sore" "But in both politics and business everybody is so sore and frazzled that there has been more general and whole-hearted paning than during any previous period within my memory."

"If every knock were really a boost the millennium would be here now, nobody would have to work and life would be just a beautiful bore."

"Diplomats are supposed to be the easiest, most tactful people in the world and you get an idea how sour the world has turned on itself when even they begin to get nasty."

"We exchange ambassadors with Spain and the ambassadors exchange epithets. One day our ambassador there was attacked by the Madrid press because he was supposed to have said that the members of the new provisional government looked like 'a bunch of jailbirds.' That same day the new Spanish government appointed an ambassador to us who was on record as accusing us of 'stark imperialism,' asserting that this country considers the whole continent its prey and demanding that we apologize for starting the Spanish-American war."

"Meanwhile, the Haitian minister has got himself into a jam because he was said to have insinuated that General Smedley Butler was a fake hero. And Butler, who called Mussolini a hit-and-run driver and was accused of obscene language when he said 'Hell' on the radio, is only one of our public men who gets into one duel of harsh words after another."

"No chapter of history displays so many adjectives used to adorn the word 'liar' as the Republicans and Democrats used in the big name-calling contest between Chairman Fess and Chairman Shouse. No president within the oldest inhabitant's memory has been castigated as has Mr. Hoover. And the anathema hurled at each other by Republicans and Democrats is only excelled by the imprecations and maledictions exchanged between regular Republicans and progressive Republicans and between wet Democrats and dry Democrats."

When you hear Republicans like Julius Barnes and Mr. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad cursing the protective tariff you realize how good and mad everybody else is at everything and everybody else.

Chicago Sets Records

"New records of invective were established in the Chicago majority campaign and every day somebody is piling new abuse on Mayor Jimmy Walker and Tammany Hall, only to be branded as bolshevik in return."

"Even President Hoover forsook his accustomed calm the other day to deliver a fearless denunciation of Sandino, the Nicaraguan rebel."

"I call to mind the good old days when we were all comparatively happy and when we had any spleen in our systems we took it out on the Russians. Now we are razing the Russians more enthusiastically than ever, the rest of the world is still razing the United States and among our own folks nobody seems to find life bearable any more unless they are picking fights with each other."

"Incidentally, there's a dirty skunk out in my state who made a speech the other night and said the only excuse for the people sending me to Washington was that it made the state so much better a place to live in."

Pluto to Scorn Sun for

58 years, Says Expert

NORTH SCITUATE, R. I.—(U.P.)—It will be more than 58 years before the infant planet Pluto makes another of its "closest approaches" to the sun, and at that time the planet will be about 2,994,100,000 miles from Sol, Frank E. Seagrave, Boston astronomer who has an observatory here, has estimated.

Seagrave believes Pluto is a very cold object, due to its great distance from the sun and its comparatively small size—it being only slightly larger than the earth.

Girl, 16, Nabbed in Gun Battle

This picture shows police removing Helen Walsh, 16-year-old girl companion of Francis "Two-Gun" Crowley, from the New York apartment house in which the youthful gunman was captured after an hour's siege. She was reported to have been with Crowley when he previously shot and killed a patrolman in a petter's lane near North Merrick, Long Island, precipitating one of the most sensational man-hunts in New York police history. Ten thousand persons, jamming nearby streets, watched Crowley return the fire of 300 policemen who surrounded his hideaway apartment with machine guns, pistols, tear bombs and axes.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 400 cases, he named it HEM-ROID.

—Ward & Son say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

No. 8

In a Series appearing in this newspaper

If you hold out any longer from buying your side-dressing, you may find it too late for your crops to take full benefit from the fertilizer. You may also find it hard to get it in time. I've still got a good supply of Chilean Nitrate of Soda on hand. But it's not going to last very long the way they're buying it just now.

Your Fertilizer Dealer

If you wait too long before side-dressing, you'll only be delaying harvest time and you won't get the big yields you should. With Chilean Nitrate selling at the lowest price in years, there's no saving in waiting until the last moment. Get your Chilean—the natural nitrate—NOW. Then there'll be no delay in putting out your fertilizer when crops need it most. In the new 100 lb. bags that stay in good shape, you'll find Chilean keeps in better condition. But be sure to insist on "Chilean" when you order your nitrate. It is the real thing... the real original "SODA." Remember the two kinds—Original Chilean (Crystalline) and Champion Brand (Granulated) both natural nitrate.

Telephone 321

If you walk as a friend you will find a friend wherever you choose to fare;
If you go with mirth to a far strange land you will find that mirth is there;
For the strangest part of this queer old world is that like will join with like.
And who walks with love for his fellow-man an answering love will strike.
If you walk in honor then honest men will meet you along the way;
But if you are false you will find men false wherever you chance to stray.
For good breeds good and bad breeds bad, we are met by the traits we show;
Love will find a friend at the stranger's door where hate will find a foe.
For each of us builds the world he knows which only himself can spoil;
And on an hour of hate or an hour of shame can ruin a life of toil.
And tho to the utmost ends of the earth your duty may bid you fare,
If you go with truth and a friendly heart you will find friends awaiting you there.—Selected.

Jacobs Screams

JOE JACOBS, manager of the world's champion, (by foot) Max Schmeling, bought some newspapers at the cigar stand in the hotel lobby in Cleveland, the other day. He turned to the sports page. Suddenly he screamed.

"What's this!" he yelled, his eyes looking as large as one of Herb Pennock's slow balls. "Sharkey to fight Carnera in Brooklyn June 19? Why it's murder, yes murder."

"Why, they can't pull off anything like that! Carnera's under contract with the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois to meet the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling championship bout, and he can't do this because he's violating his contract and that isn't right."

Ah, but my dear Joey you don't know these boxing people! You don't know the guile they can spread. You don't know the tricks some of those boxers' managers will stoop to. I just tell you what, Joe, there are some pretty bold fellows connected with boxing nowadays, and they are likely to try to get away with almost anything."

"We Have Heard—"

YOU would be surprised, Joe, if we should tell you some of the things we have heard about the smart Alecks who manage boxers. Why, even in New York City, where boxing is under supervision of so august a body of men as Muldoon, Fawley and Phelan, do you know that once in a while, well maybe once in a very great, long while, somebody puts something across that is just a mite, just a mite, mind you, smelly?

And contracts? Why, even a contract isn't sacred to some of those chiselers down in New York. Mind you, Joe, I am not naming names, and I wouldn't accuse anybody for the world, but once when I was in New York, I heard that once in a while those New York chiselers actually tried a promising boxer and his manager apart, even though they did have contracts, and the chiselers took the boxers over

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Al Simmons tells a story about a certain player in the big leagues who is a very snappy dresser. . . . almost too snappy a dresser, in fact.

well, one day this Beau Brummel came dashing into home plate on a close play.

Umpire Brick Owens called him out. Beau Brummel was furious. . . . he dashed up to Owens, tapped him on the chest and screamed: "Where did he touch me?" . . . to which the caustic Owens, in an ultra-refined tone, made the following reply, "On the marcel, deary, right on the marcel!"

themselves. Of course, this may have been only a rumor, Joe; you know how those things start.

But one of the New York fight fans was telling me that fighters who have been suspended were reinstated sometimes by the boxing commission for apparently no reason at all, even though their original offenses had lost none of their heinousness.

My Goodness!

YOU remember how Carnera was suspended in California because of what looked like a phoney with that Bombo Chevalier? And, remember how the New York commission raised its hands in horror at the affair, and suspended Carnera forthwith, with a great show of indignation?

And now the Dodger A. C. in Brooklyn has signed up Carnera to meet Jack Sharkey. Remember they wanted Maxie to fight him again, and when you demurred, the athletic commission formally announced that Maxie wasn't champion any longer? Now, I hear that the Sharkey-Carnera affair is to be billed as a world championship event.

Of course, it's all probably okay. But everything does look a little bit peculiar, doesn't it, Joe?

Kentucky Lady Tells How She Was Helped, When Sick, By Taking Cardui

How a Kentucky lady was benefited by taking Cardui is described below, by Mrs. E. R. Dietel, of Princeton, Ky.

"My health was bad. I was in a run-down condition, and suffered a great deal with a pain in my side.

"I simply ached all over. I was so nervous. At night I was restless I did not feel rested or refreshed when morning came—just one day after another feeling miserable.

"My mother had taken Cardui and it had been a great help to her. She thought it would do me good.

"After my first bottle, I felt much better. I kept it up until I had taken four bottles. My side got better. I was less nervous.

"I am glad to say I am better today after having used Cardui. I can recommend it to my friends and neighbors."

Insist on Cardui, praised and recommended by thousands of women. Sold by druggists.
